PRIMARY SCHOOL

Bold hues bring a spirit of joyful nostalgia to this kitchen.

DESIGNER YASMINE GHONIEM "An original rabbit warren-like floorplan saw the kitchen relocated from upstairs to the ground floor. Conventional layouts were rejected, with a custom brick plinth delineating the kitchen from the living area. This addition serves as an open liquor display, a reinvented kitchen island and integrated lounge. Primary colours (selected by Lymesmith) were layered throughout the interior and became the heartbeat of the 'joyful' experience we were all committed to creating. A timber bench by ITF Cabinet Making & Joinery provided a warmer injection to the strongly patterned crazy paving. We especially love the slim profile where the drawers seamlessly connect to the counter, embellished with slim aged-brass door hardware." What luxury item did you choose for this space regardless of budget? "We loved the artwork by John Reid from Small Spaces. Its calligraphic forms mirror the splashback veining so beautifully." amberroaddesign.com.au; lymesmith.com.au
