PEACHY SCENE
[ Rozelle ]

PRESERVING ITS HISTORICAL ESSENCE as a late 19th-century corner shop, the three-storey Rozelle sandstone dwelling was transformed into a family sanctuary by Yasmine Ghoniem of YSG. "The master bedroom transitioned to a generous bathroom nestled between the young adult sisters' sleeping quarters with doors adjoining their spaces. Removing existing plasterboard walls and joinery revealed the beautiful original sandstone walls plus a vaulted ceiling which we painted a dreamy peach tone (previously concealed behind a low plaster ceiling). The diagonal bands of the alternating rose-tinted limestone tiles grant the illusion of sunlight streaming through the window. The vanity mirror faces the window, bouncing light around. An angled porcelain tub floating on orbs adds a modern twist, while a floor-mounted brass tap and custom floating marble soap shelf with rusty spider veins (repurposed from an original fireplace downstairs) add an aged patina. Anchoring the room, slate-like Pietra Verde stone articulates the vanity and splashback plus the raised edge of the generous shower chamber behind it." What luxury item did you choose for this bathroom regardless of budget? "The Water Monopoly 'Rockwell' bath from The English Tapware Company – it's the off-centre centrepiece. No matter how busy your day is, you'd always find time for a soak in this, ideally mid-morning on weekends when the sun filters in." ysg.studio
